

As a consumer I support a la carte program billing on cable television. It is absurd to pay subscriber fees for programming that is never watched and in many cases offensive. Paying for selected programming would provide a true measure to cable companies and advertisers of which channels are most watched. The program choices must include local stations.